

Ankona Ghosh, MD

Ankona Ghosh, MD is a board-certified Otolaryngologist – Head and Neck Surgeon who practices comprehensive otolaryngology. She joins the Division of Otolaryngology at Cedars Sinai Medical Center in 2023 following 6 years practice at a multi-specialty private practice in Southern California. She provides comprehensive medical and surgical otolaryngology treatment ranging from nasal obstruction and sinus pathology to voice disorders and chronic cough, with a special focus in the treatment of salivary gland disease, thyroid and parathyroid diseases, and sleep medicine. She is trained in the surgical treatment for obstructive sleep apnea (OSA) using the Inspire device.

Dr. Ghosh received her undergraduate degree from the University of Southern California where she graduated Magna Cum Laude with a double major in Biological Science and Political Science. She then spent a decade at the University of Pennsylvania where she received her medical degree and completed her otolaryngology training.

Dr Ghosh has been committed to academic pursuits in both patient-focused clinical research and education. At the University of Pennsylvania, she conducted extensive research projects spanning the fields of laryngology and rhinology. Her peer-reviewed research has been published in top ENT journals. Her current clinical research interests include patient education and simulation training.

Dr. Ghosh is fluent in Bengali, Bahasa Indonesia, and English with proficiency in Spanish and Hindi. She loves to travel, bake for friends and family, and experience different cultures and cuisines.