

Neelaysh Vukkadala, MD

Dr. Vukkadala is a board-certified otolaryngologist and fellowship trained laryngologist. He received his undergraduate degree from Saint Louis University and his MD from the University of California, San Francisco. He completed residency at Stanford University Medical Center and subsequently pursued fellowship training in laryngology at UCLA. He then joined the laryngology team at Cedars-Sinai. Dr. Vukkadala has a particular interest in swallowing disorders, laryngeal reinnervation, and complex airway management. He has expertise in both endoscopic and open laryngeal and aerodigestive surgical procedures. He has published extensively in the field of Otolaryngology and has successfully led multiple clinical research studies.